How did the Fund perform during the reporting period?

The Fund earned 13.88% for the year ending June 30, 2024, buoyed in part by favorable stock market conditions. The MSCI ACWI (All Country World Index), the Fund's benchmark, was up 19.37% for the same period.

Strategy

The Fund pursues an active asset allocation strategy designed to overweight portfolio investments into the top-performing asset classes while eliminating exposure to under-performing assets.

Techniques

As the market declined in July and August 2023, the sub-advisor reduced market exposure in the Fund, finishing the third quarter with an exposure of just 25%. The Fund began the fourth quarter of 2023 in a defensive posture. It follows a rule set that includes several risk-management indicators. These indicators moved from bearish to bullish during the quarter in just five trading days—the fastest switch ever. Shifting to a fully invested position and adding leverage on November 6, 2023, benefited the Fund for the final quarter of the year.

The Fund rose 11.34% for the first quarter of 2024, surpassing the S&P 500 (the Fund's secondary benchmark), which climbed 10.56% and marked its 12th-strongest quarterly gain in the past 80 years. The market rally broadened, and more sectors began to take the lead. This change was reflected in the robust performance of the more diversified S&P 500, which outperformed the highly concentrated NASDAQ Composite. Such broadening is advantageous for the Fund due to its ability to pivot to emerging leaders. The Fund moved to a defensive position in late April. It reversed its position in early May but missed out on some market gains. In June, the Fund gained 6.11%, surpassing the S&P 500's 3.47% gain and aiding in the recovery. From June until the quarter's end, the Fund was overweight in the Technology sector (26%), Large-Cap Growth (20%), and the S&P 500 (26%).
